

SCOTS LANGUAGE CREATIVE WRITING COMPETITION

2017 is the year of History, Heritage & Archaeology in Scotland. Education Scotland invites learners of all ages to enter by writing a story or poem in Scots language.

Scots language books to win

Pupils should write a poem or short story of not more than 750 words in length. Each pupil may submit one entry, with a title and signed as their own work. The story or poem must be written in Scots language – though can be in any dialect of Scots, as broad or unique as the writer would like. Log onto Glow and join the Scots blether bit.ly/scotsblether for all information and access to all links below.

All entries should be sent to Education Scotland Scots Language Coordinator Bruce Eunson: Bruce.Eunson@educationscotland.gsi.gov.uk

Entries should be typed, although scanned or posted handwritten copies will also be accepted. Submission date for competition entries is 23rd November 2017.

Links to helpful organisations and websites promoting Scots language

Education Scotland education.gov.scot

Scots Language Centre scotslanguage.com

Scots Hoose scotshoose.com

Wee Windaes wee-windaes.nls.uk

Visit Scotland visitscotland.com

Send in yir Scievins! Celebrate Scotland's mither tongue!